

AT HOME WITH ACCOLADES

Luisa Cogno

A HOME building company which was started by two brothers has won a Master Builders Association NSW Excellence in Housing Award in Exhibition and Project Homes for its Melody display home at Oran Park.

Kurmond Homes, which was started by brothers Michael and Peter Kulakovski, received the accolade at a glittering awards ceremony at The Star Event Centre on Saturday, September 2.

Peter Kulakovski said he and the team were so thrilled to be the winner for this year's award.

"The Master Builders Association award is a great achievement for Kurmond Homes and really drives home the encouragement that is given to our team and industry peers," he said.

"Our team worked tirelessly throughout the process of the design and construction of the Melody to create a home that is sophisticated yet homely. It has been a challenging but immensely rewarding process to receive this end result."

The Melody, which is on display at Webber Loop, impressed the judging panel which included selected industry professionals.

They described the display home as a worthy winner with many features and an innovative design.

The highlighted features of the design included the grand entry that uses the cantilevered roof with timber and stone and the living, alfresco and kitchen areas, which is the heart of the home.

The Kulakovski brothers were raised in the Hawkesbury area and have many years of building experience. Peter started out as a frame carpenter and Michael as a joiner carpenter.

They said the Oran Park display village offered Kurmond Homes the opportunity to showcase a premium home.

"We wanted to design and build a modern contemporary house showcasing the classic elements that Kurmond do so well," they said.
